

Declaration by parents or legal guardians regarding the exchange of information between day care centre and primary school

Every child undergoes individual development and learning phases, which begin at home and are both facilitated and supported by the day care centre and the school. The day care centre and the primary school have a common responsibility to ensure a high degree of continuity in the development and learning phases of the child through their collaboration. In addition to the over-all development of your child's personality, the pedagogical specialists at the day care centre are also well aware of his or her exceptional abilities and skills. To ensure the best possible school start for your child, it is beneficial that the day care centre forwards important information about your child to the primary school during the transition between day care centre and primary school as part of the transition between the day care centre and the primary school. This can help the primary school to create an individual development plan for your child at an earlier stage. For the child, this exchange of information can only take place with your permission. The following declaration is not mandatory
